

By the way

FROM
STEPHANIE KIEWEL

Seat allowance

The right seating pleasure is for probably indispensable. can also be unforgettable in another way, had to be Recently, more and more culture-loving visitors in German House firsthand. The Creaking of plastic announced it in the Rule shortly before. Hardly did one is enthusiastic about the artists who were just doing their best on stage and rocked slightly in time with the enthusiastic handshake on the chair, it usually happened completely unexpectedly and out of the blue. It already creaked threateningly, and in the worst case, the chair was then pretty cracked, even if only a light theatergoer had taken his seat. The club Puppet and theatre stage wants to therefore no longer rely on the previous Leaving seating and saving eager to purchase new chairs and expects costs of 5000 Euro. But where do you get the money, in In times of tense economic conditions, donations are currently the only hope in the fight against empty wallets. If you distribute the total acquisition costs among the Citizens of the mountain town, so a A donation of 38 cents per person would be enough to add new seating to the theater by the end of the year. And what's 38 cents?
Finally, while sitting, you can much better to pat your thighs.

st-georgen.redaktion@suedkurier.de

comment

CLOCK MUSEUM

Encouragement

BY JENS WURSTHORN

This is the credit in lung pieces beat the Bow between economic past and present in Furtwangen. Who knows that the large Furtwangen companies have their roots in the watch industry? The small, Excursion due to space situation in The local industrial history underlines the importance of innovative Ideas, praises the successful restructuring and addresses flops. He shows that maintaining a position in volatile markets was no easy task even decades ago. Back then, the structural change, Success story gives courage throughout similar current challenges

This is the implicit message of Exhibits that put both the industrial city and the lending companies in a friendly light.

jens.wursthorn@suedkurier.de

news

WILD DOG

Eight rabbits in the Stables bitten to death

Schramberg-Schönbronn – Eight rabbits were born in Schramberg district of Schön-bronn in their stables dead-bitten. The police go due to traces of a stray dog. The rabbits were on three different properties, In all cases the dog had the bars on the stable were destroyed.

ROLLOVER

Too much gas and also alcohol

Rooms – With bruises and broken bones a 22-year-old woman after a serious accident in Rooms in the hospital She was sitting in the car of a 25-year-old who, after the roundabout at "Fame" had given too much gas: The Car went off the road, damaged in the parking lot the discotheque two parked Car and a fence before It then rolled over. The police stopped the driver The police then confiscated his

Driver's license. An uninvolved 19-year-old man from a Neighbouring district got involved in drunken state also still in the work of the police and insulted the officers and insulted her in obscene He was then taken to taken into custody, then the legal guardian transferred. (mm)

Notes

ST. GEORGE

The class of 1931/32 St. Georgen invites you to the annual excursion on June 1st with partners. The trip takes you by train to Konstanz/Mainau. reports by May 26th at Eckhard Mayer on telephone 7784.

The leisure center of the Werkstatt St. Georgen is coming next Thursday, May 20th, at 2.30 pm in the Bistro Café "BM", Gerwigstraße, together men.

The class of 1932/33 St. Georgen undertakes on the 16th. June a trip to Laufenburg/Bad Säckingen. Registration until 1 June at Telephone 6788 or 3563 ten.

The class of 1934/35 St. Georgen undertakes on the 25th. June a trip to the 75th anniversary. Erhard Stäudinger is accepting registrations by phone at 7708. The registration deadline is the 18th. June.

At her reading in St. Georgen, author Isabelle Müller (right) advised victims of sexual harassment to listen more closely and ask questions. Violence calls for help in code. PICTURE: PROKOPH

Isabelle Müller reports

“Phoenix subsidiary” in German House Audience members admire the writer

BY ILONA PROKOPH

St. Georgen – Can a woman lead a normal life if she has been sexually abused as a child? Can bad experiences like Can exclusion, bitter poverty, and rejection still lead to a happy life? Very detailed Isabelle Müller answered these questions worded.

In the Theater im Deutsches Haus in St. Georgen has the author from close from Pforzheim completely captivated their large audience.

Association of the Puppet and Theatre Stage she read from her autobiography "Phoenix Daughter – Hope was my Way", published by Krüger Verlag. The The 45-year-old reported on her eventful life in the tension field of Asian serenity, embodied by her Vietnamese mother Mè Loan, and European ideas of their misanthropic, violent French father.

"It is admirable how she book with all the terrible experiences," said Freya Weiser from St. Georgen about the charismatic charisma of the writer enthusiastic. Sonja Wehner and Christa Kuchendörfer found it "unbelievable, what a person can endure." And Christel Paskal also described

To person

Isabelle Müller is married and lives with her husband and their two Daughters near Pforzheim. She was born in 1964 in Tours/France From 1985 she worked in Germany as an interpreter and Translator, including in St. Georgen. In 1990 she became Art dealer self-employed and learned on trips to Asia with her mother Loan her Vietnamese roots Her book "Phoenix Daughter" published by Krüger Verlag.

Information on the Internet: www.isabellemueller.de the reading as "extremely interesting". Many visitors even had the book already read and wanted to read the author experience it up close. This is how someone praised the condensed style of the work. Each sentence give a lot of information. Isabelle Müller described her professional beginnings in St. Georgen at the Heinemann company. "I felt good," she said. As a twelve-year-old, she lived also one and a half years with her sister in Furtwangen. "There I'm lucky because I was not exposed to my father's attacks," reported Isabelle Müller the audience, who were very attentive and listened quietly. In Tharsilla Rombach from Furtwangen she had a "wonderful heavenly helper" met her and her sister ter actively supported. With their exciting stories and Isabelle Müller's reading of individual passages caused

A real rollercoaster of emotions. On the faces of the listeners

Deepest sympathy was reflected when the eight-year-old Isabelle in the school class reported that she had not received anything for Christmas and was later given a present by her classmate Nadège becomes.

And a murmur goes through the amount that Isabelle Müller's second Suicide attempt on the ice-cold Rails – 50 meters behind her parents' house – failed because the French railway had recently called a strike. "That was the message for me, I should live," said the author. Shortly after, she found the strength from this experience to fight against her father successfully defended himself. Even before Years ago she forgave him and was thus become internally free. "The perpetrators are really afraid of being exposed," she advises, listening more closely or asking questions when a Victims corresponding hints make.

The people were then able to be freed in the humorous descriptions about Isabelle Müller's travels to Kazakhstan or later with her mother in their Vietnamese homeland. "I want to be known and stay," said Isabelle Müller. Because Next she wants to take the maternal publish a biography and build a school for girls in Vietnam because her mother was never allowed to attend school there.

Fire brigade festival well attended

The spring festival was well attended the Stockburg fire brigade despite the unfriendly weather

Stockburg(stk) For the 35th time, the fire department held its spring festival this weekend. Even though the skies didn't always clear up, the cold sometimes even let the guests in the shivering in a well-heated tent. This was done by Number of visitors, however, no Demolition, was the consensus behind the counter. "The celebration was already over last night well attended, if the weather had been better, there would certainly have been more People came," said local commander Ernst Laufer. He noted that due to weather conditions This year especially the cyclists for coffee on Sunday afternoon. However, not all bikers were afraid of the bad weather. "It may well cold, but pleasant. I still did my lap today, must support such events," says Gerhard Beha, who his bike to the festival tent In addition, The regular guest also saw the many happy faces that, despite the bad weather can be found everywhere.

"It's great that there are still clubs that make this effort and offer something to the locals," Another visitor is enthusiastic, saying that she particularly admires the effort that the helpers make every year to cope with. "One knows himself," says Martin Beha, who has been From the beginning, it ensures that the beer

Hahn is running. The many hard-working helpers behind the counter also had this year again when it came to providing the numerous visitors as quickly as possible the currywurst, a Steak or schnitzel to serve. The helpers agreed that they were already a well-rehearsed team when it came to grilling. "Karle fries his schnitzels and I make the steaks," explained Patrick Laufer.

Erika Wohlgenuth has been providing for more than 20 years, ensuring a smooth food distribution process. She is supported by her daughter Jasmin, who has already second time to present "Ketchup on to make the fries," as the 13-year-old explains. Andrea Storz also had a lot to do with her helpers at the cake bar on Sunday afternoon.

Erika Wohlgenuth has the next currywurst ready for her hungry guests. For 20 years She helps out at the Stockburg Fire Department's spring festival. PHOTO: KIEWEL

"We actually thought there would be fewer visitors because of the bad weather, but that is not "So," says the volunteer. For over 15 years she has been helping the Fire department at the spring festival. "I

I live in Stockburg, there is something like that almost already mandatory," she smiles and gives another piece of cake over the Counter. We can only hope that St. Peter will see reason next year with the organizers.